HEWITT'S BILL STILL BEFORE WASHINGTON, December 21 .- In the house, after the reading of the journal, the speaker after the reading of the journal, the speaker called the attention of the house to the vote on the question of adjournment yesterday evening. As the result was handed to the chair, the vote stood, yeas 124, nays 121, and thereupon the speaker had declared the house adjourned. An examination showed that the vote really was yeas 121, nays 127. The error had occurred by reason of the great confusion existing in the hall during roll call.

Mr. Townshend of Illinois, contended that as the house had refused to adjourn, the legislative day of Monday must now be continued.

The Speaker—The chair thinks the house did adjourn. [Laughter.]

Mr. Morrison, from the committee on ways and means, reported back the concurrent resolution for the holiday recess from December 22 to January 4th. Agreed to—132 to 25.

Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, from the committee on military affairs, reported the military academy appropriation bill, and it was referred to the committee of the whole.

The house went into committee of the whole on the army appropriation bill. There was no general debate, and the bill was immediately year by paragraphs for amendments.

On motion of Mr. Bragg, of Wisconsin, an amendment was adopted providing that when any officer traveling on duty, travels on any railroal which United States troops are entitled to be transported free of charge, he shall be allowed only four cents per mile as subsistence fund.

The committee soon rose and reported the bill to the house.

Other amendments had been adopted in committee, but the above is the only one in which the house concurred. The bill then passed, Mr. Townshend, of Illinois, from the committee on apprepriations, reported the invalid pension appropriation bill, and it was referred to committee of the whole. It appropriates $76,254.500, the exact amount of the estimate being $179,300 more than the appropriation for the current year.

A communication from the secretary of the A communication from the secretary of the treasury was today laid before the house, in which he says that the capacity of the vaults already constructed for the storage of silver deliars is now practically exhausted. There is therefore, he says, a necessity that provision be made for the storage of silver deliars at the earliest practicable day. Estimates are transmitted of the cost of a storage vault of one hundred million deliars capacity within the court yard of the treasury building. For a double steel-lined vault, estimates are $106,673 and for a simple youth without steel lining, they are $27,804.

Mr. Morrison, from the committee on ways and means, reported a resolution for the distribution of the president's message, and it was referred to committee of the whole. The house then adjourned.

MATTHEWS APPOINTED AGAIN.

The President Sends in a Message With An Appointment. Washington, December 21.—The president today nominated James C. Matthews, of New York, to be recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia. Matthews is the Albany colored man, who has once been rejected by the senate, but who is now the incumbent of the office by arreintment, during the recess of converge. appointment during the recess of congress. In secret session, the Matthews nomination was referred to the committee on the District of Columbia. It is said to have been accompanied by a message from the president, giving his reasons for sending in a second time the name of a man whose nomination the senate had once rejected. It is reported that the message once rejected. It is reported that the message after reaching the fact of the first nomination and rejection, states that a large number of persons in the district had conceived prejudice against Matthews, which fact doubtless influenced the action of the senate; that Matthews had now been in the senate; that Matthews had now been in effice several months and had proved his capacity by rescuing the records of office from loss and illegibly, and that his management of the office had effect of removing much of the opposition which formerly existed. For these reasons and professing an earnest desire to co-oper ate in securing for the colored men a just recognition by contracts in the processing the colored men a just recognition by the colored men a just recognition by the process and professing and professing the processing the pr recognition, he ventures in the utmost good faith to send in the nomination again, disclaiming, however, any intention of questioning the previous action of the senate in the premises.

A SUIT COMPROMISED.

Secretary Fairchild Accepts an Offer of the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, WASHINGTON, December 21.—Acting Secretary Fairchild has accepted an offer of the Nashtary parchid has accepted an one-of the Nash-ville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad com-pany to pay the sum of $153,600 in compromise of the claim of the United States, now in suit against that company, in the middle district of Tennessee, founded on certain matured and un-paid interest coupons of bonds issued by the company and held by the United States.

The bonds in question, 512 in number and coured by mortgage, were transferred to the Inited States by the state of Tennessee as security for certain Indian trust funds held by the United States and loaned to the state. The unpaid coupons were those due from January 1, 1861, to January 1, 1866.

In 1880 suit was brought to recover the In 18:0 suit was brought to recover the amount of these coupons, as well as the interest which exceeds the face value of the coupons. The defendant interposed a plea of statute of limitations, and the court sustained the plea. This decision was, however, reversed by the United States supreme court on a writ of error, and the case was remanded to the court below, where it is now pending. The offer to compromise contemplates the payment of a total sum in six monthly installments of $25.000 each. It sacceptance was recommended $25,000 each. Its acceptance was recommended by the United States attorney and by Judge McCue, solicitor of the treasury.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., December 21.—A decision has just been rendered by the supreme court of Alabama in a case which involves title to several million dollars' worth of lands originally donated to the Alabama and Chattaneoga Railroad company by congress. The suit was brought by Jefferson county, in chancery court, to compel the trustees to make legal title to forty acres of land in sight of Eirmingham, worth $50,000. The supreme court decides on the appeal that all sales made before Birmingbam, worth $50.000. The supreme court decides on the appeal that all sales made before the completion of the road are void except one hundred and twenty sections of land on the first twenty miles near Chattanooga, unless they were made in strict conformity with the act of cot gress of 1856, donating the lands. As none of the sales made before the completion of the road did conform to the act all are void. All sales made since the completion in 1871 are good—as the road runs through the richest mineral districts of Alabama from Chattanooga to Meridian the void sales amount to millions of dollars. abolical Work of Incendiaries—Another Heavy Loss by Fire in Galveston—A Large Business Building in New York Destroyed—Losses and Incurance — Fires Elsewhere.

GALVESTON, Texas, December 21,-A disastrous fire broke out at three o'clock this morning in the residence portion of the city, on Avenue K, between Twenty-first and Twenty second streets. This section of the city is composed almost exclusively of wooden buildings. The fire spread with great rapidity, owing to the water in the cisterns in the vicinity becoming exhausted, and before the flames were controlled they had swept over the greater portion of two squares from Avenne I to Broadway, bounded by Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets. Twenty-eight dwelling houses and two grocery stores were burned. Much house-hold for items to be a second of the store of the second of the store of the second of the store of the second of the sec hold furniture was saved. The total loss is estimated from $30,000 to $100,000; insurance about $50,000.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., December 21.-News has been received from Vituni, an inland town of Faulkner county, this state, to the effect that about 3 o'clock Sunday-morning every business house in the town, simultaneously was set on fire and burned to the ground, including the barns, cribs and outhouses of Messrs. George and Thomas Harris, residing about a half mile from Vituni. Nothing at all was saved, and the Harris brothers lost great quantities of corn, fodder, cotton seed, hogs, etc., they being considered the wealthiest farmers in the county. The total loss is about $150,000. No one has been arrested, but suspicion points to one or two suspicious characters.

PHILADELPHIA, December 21.—A five-stery brick building at No. 711 Market street, owned by John M. Maris, and occupied by John M. Maris & Co., dealers in druggists supplies, and Kneedler, Patterson & Co., dry goods, together with their contents, was entirely destroyed by fire, which was caused by a defective heater in the basement this evening. The loss on the building is estimated at $45,000; Maris & Co. lose $70,000 on stock, and Kneedler, Patterson & Co. estimate their loss at $75,000, all of which is covered by insurance, placed principally in local companies.

THE RICHMOND SENSATION. Not Much Credence Given the Statement of

RICHMOND, Va., December 21.—There have been no new developments today in the case of the supposed murder, an account of which was telegraphed hence last night. Workmen under the supervision of the police continued their search of the premises on which the alleged murder was committed, and where the body of the victim was supposed to lie buried in an old well. It is now thought that if a murder was committed by Shinnick, as his dying wife states, he made way with the body by some other means, or only knocked the man down, robbed him and then put him out of his house. Nothing was found by the searchers to indicate either that a murder had been committed or that there had ever been a well on the premises, although a few old citizens assert that there was one. Mrs. Shinnick, who is not yet dead, sticks firmly to her original statement, but belief in it is weakening on account of the fact that nothing has been found to sustain her assertions, and the further fact that she is a woman who did not bear a good character before marriage. It is asserted by many that she had a revengeful motive against her husband on account of ill treatment. A telegram from Cincinnati received here today states that Shinnick has been in the workhouse in that city for two months past, and is there still for disorderly conduct. Shippick's Wife. A CLEVER COUNTERFEIT.

Discovery of a Den of Counterfeiters Who Have Been Puzzling Officials. CHICAGO, December 21.—For several months, not only Chicago, but Minneapolis, St. Paul, Milwaukee and smaller cities of the northwest have been flooded with spurious silver dollars, so closely resembling the genuine article that even experts were deceived. Secret service officers have at last discovered that the coins were made on a small farm sixteen miles southeast of Pullman and shipped to Milwau-kee to a physician, who distributed them in quantities to suit retail shavers. The doctor was arrested. Officials hastened to the factory, but were an hour behind the counterfeiters, who had hastily thrown away a great part of their im-plements and fled. Some of their tools were found and a considerable quantity of different metals platinum steel filings, silver leaf and composition white metal. The counterfeits correspond in weight exactly with the United States dollar, and have the genuine ring when tested. The metal of which they are made is an entirely new and dangerous composition, whose constituent parts and mettalurgists workmanship is almost perfect. The only de-fect that is readily discernible being that the letter "D" in the motto "In God We Trust," slants like an italic letter. A PREACHER MOBBED!

Exciting Times at a Colored Church in NASHVILLE, Tenn., December 21.—An immense audience gathered at the First Colored Baptist church tonight to hear the infamous elder Huffman's sermon on "rattle-snakes." wherein it was supposed he would score his enemies. The mob stayed about the church threatening to burn it. They were arranging to do so, when they found Huffman was gone, and vowed they would kill him if he ever entered the church again. It is not believed the trouble is at its worst yet. No one was hurt by the shots

Railroads and Steamboats Trying to Center the Trade in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., December 21.—There will be a meeting of special importance to center the cotton trade in this city tomorrow. Today a call is published, signed by Henry Fink, vice-president of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, and J. M. Edwards, of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas, a link of Huntington's system, which connects Memphis and New Orleans. It is addressed to all the lines which carry cotton, whether all rail or both water and rail, and which have representives convenient to the appointed place of meeting. The purpose, as stated in the call, is to consider means whereby a combination can be formed for the maintenance of uniform rates on cotton from Memphis and adjacent cotton markets for the southeast and northeast, and a division of earnings on an equitable proportion can be secured. The lines that run out of Memphis that are interested are as follows:

Railroads—The Lonisville's and Nashville; Memphis, Selma and Brunswick, Louisville, New Orleans and Texas; Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern, Wabash, Memphis and Charleston, under lease to Mr. Fink's road, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia.

Steamer lines: The Mississipmi and Tenness.

East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia. Steamer lines: The Mississippi and Tennessee Ancher line, Barge line and Memphis and Ohio.

In addition to these are a number running to cotton shipping points in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and possibly some from Arkansas and Louisiana; also connections not actually reaching cotton shipping points, but which must carry cotton for the other roads. It will be seen from the purpose set forth in the call that it will be a preliminary meeting in an effort to form a pool of the cotton-carrying roads south of the Ohio. A division of carnings would be made upon amounts carried by the several roads from such point as Memphis. At present a pool exists of roads north of the river, but traffic is done by roads south of the river, simply under an agreement. The proriver, simply under an agreement. The proposed pool can affect business this year very little, as the bulk of the crop has already been shipped. It is hoped, however, to make some satisfactory pooling arrangement by the time the next crop is ready to ship.

The New York Supreme Court Decide that the Marx Brothers Tried to Swindle.

New York, December 21.—In the special term of the supreme court today Judge Van Brunt gave a decision that the assignment of the firm of Kosuth Marx & Co., the well known Maiden Lane jewelers and diamond dealers, made in September, 1885, was null and void. He declared it to be the consummation of a scheme to defraud their creditors, who were chiefly foreigners, and ordered it to be set aside on these grounds. The firm was composed of three brothers. Kosauth, Adolphus and Jacob Marx. The firm failed in that month for over a million of dellars. The failure created considerable excitement both here and aboard in the trade. Attachments were at once procured against the property of the firm, and suits were brought to set aside the assignment on the ground of fraud, by both home and foreign creditors. The firm had extensive foreign dealings. Jacques, Myers and other London creditors joined in the sults, and the case was tried before Judge Van Bruut last month. His decision giver today states that while there is no direct pato that the firm paid certain claims, evidentily fraudulent, yet circumstances point that way, and indicate that the firm had made long preparations for assignment. He said the firm had protected friends point that way, and indicate that the firm had under long preparations for assignment. He said the firm had protected friends and relatives at the expense of others abroad. Individual members of firm drew heavily for expenses. The notes of Charles Rausch, a debtor, were accepted and he was released from payment on notes.

Their system of bookkeeping was doctored to deceive. All of the circumstances, to the mind of the court, were suspicious. Therefore his decision was against the validity of the assignment.

MR. POWDERLY ISSUES A SECRET CIRCULAR.

He Directs that Money Raised for the Condemned Anarchists be Refunded to the Contributors— A Convention to be Held in Indianape— lis to Form a State Assembly, Etc.

CHICAGO, December 21 .- An important secret circular has been received by district assemblies 34 and 75Knights of Laber of this city, from Master Workman Powderly, concerning the factional quarrels which have existed in the organization for some time. The circular touches upon several topics, but the most important are political questions and the action of the knights in reference to the condemned an-archists. When the order is promulgated it is claimed that the conservative element of the claimed that the conservative element of the organization will be pleased with Mr. Powderly's commands, while they will greatly displease the radical wing. Mr. Powderly has ordered the master workmen of district assemblies twenty-four and fifty-seven not to allow any money to be collected for the condemned anarchists, and instructs that if any funds have been collected that such moneys be returned to the assemblies and the persons who contributed it.

The general master workman's action, it is centended, settles the question of the relation of the Knights of Labor and anarchists. It also explains why, in the joint meeting of these district assemblies last Sunday, the sympathy matter was not brought up when the meeting was for that purpose.

A A SPLIT LOOKED FOR. Machinery Constructors Dissatisfied With the Action of the Executive Board. PHILADELPHIA, December 21.-The Record

Philadelphia, December 21.—The Record tomorrow will say:

The desire of assemblies of machinery constructors of the Knights of Labor to obtain from the general executive board of the national trades a charter for their industry has become so urgent as to render a split in the ranks of the order in case the request be not granted. The members in this industry comprise workers in all trades for construction—botier makers, blacksmiths, machinists. They claim that it is right they should be allowed to direct the business that pertains to their particular interest. For instance, should the employes of some particular machinery establishment desire to strike, and a great majority of their brethren in other shops be convinced that such action would be unnecessary and injurious to the larger number, it is claimed that a district assembly, composed of other trades, should not be given authority to compel such strike to the injury of those who do not choose to go out. The wish is that machinists be granted the power to regulate the internal affairs of their industry while holding allegiance to the principles of the order. The petition to the general executive board setting forth this idea in detail, was a practical result of the convention of local assemblies, held jin Cincinnati on November 8th. Delegates were present representing twenty-one local assemblies, principally in Chicago, Cleveland. Covington, Chacimata, Scranton, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Del., Baltimore, Washington, New York, Newark, N. J., Troy, N. Y., and Specchene, Idaho. The petition was presented on the 11th of November, and the committee were informed that the board would look into the matter and give a reply in a short time. "And that," said one of the committee today, "is the last we have heard of the petition. The local assembly which I represent has notified the board that if an answer be not returned by the 27th of this month, we will surrender our charter."

COLUMBIA, S. C., December 21.—[Special.]—
The judiciary committee of the house of representatives, has made an adverse report upon the bill which was passed by the senate on Saturday making it a misdemeanor punishable by fire and imprisonment in the penitentiary for any labor or other organization to interfere with agricultural laborers who are under contract. The bill takes its place near the foot of tract. The bill takes its place near the foot of the crowded calendar, and its consideration by the house is thus virtually postponed until next winter, as the general assembly will adjourn sine die Thursday night. The avowed object of this measure was to prevent the enrollment of colored farm laborers as members of the Knights of Labor, and its passage by the senate created considerable excitement among the knights of this state, as well as elsewhere throughout the country.

- The Details of His Orimes, Etc.

CARNESVILLE, Ga., December 21.—[Special.] Before Sanders was taken out and lynched he was interviewed by THE CONSTITUTION's representative. Sanders was a small man, weighing about 125 pounds. He had black eyes, fair complexion, and a retreating forehead, one showing more animal nature than human. He had a most remarkable face. When one stood in front of him there would be a smile playing ever one side of his face and a frown over the other, the line between the two expressions being plainly seen by one when in front of him, and the effect produced was not pleasant.

HIS EARLY LIFE. He was twenty-two years old, and was born in Oconec county, S. C. He was married four years ago to Miss Lou Davis, of Pendleton, S. C. They parted a short time after their mar-They had a fuss, in which, he says, she leaded his pistol and gave it to John Hellems to kill him with. He cut her throat with a knife, was arrested, tried and found guilty, sent to the South Carolina peni tentiery, at Columbia, where he re eleven months for assault with intent to murder. He afterward went to Chattanooga and Memphis, Tenn., spending three or four months in the latter place. He then came back to Georgia, stopped near Car-tersville, and worked four months with D. J. Lewis. He afterward lived some time with a Methodist preacher near there, with whom he had a fuss because he would not furnish him as he wanted him to, and left his employ. BACK AT HOME.

He then went back to Oconee county, S. C., his old tramping grounds, and opened up business anew. He had a number of fights and fusees of various kinds. He had a fuss with Burdett, in which a woman, he Sanders's next encounter was with Bill Rowland, whom he knocked down with an ax and hurt painfully, from which lick he recovered. Another woman comes upon the reene, when he has a row with his cousin, Francis Hardin, with whom he engaged in a fight, getting the best of it by pulling out Har-din's eyes. He was arrested in Hartwell and de-tained twenty-four hours until a telegram could be received from South Carolina, telling the authorities. He said his father was a postmaster at Oakway, Oconee father was a postmaster at Oakway, Ocoace county, South Carolina; a notary public, and also a preacher. Sanders's full name was William Tyre Franklin Sanders. He was named for two preachers. He detailed a number of misdemeanors of minor importance, which only goes to show that he had gone through the whole catalogue of crime, and always claims he committed his meanness in self defense. He gave as his reason for killing Swilling and wife that of self-deiense. He said he and Swilling were in a quarrel. Swilling struck at him with a plank, and he killed him with an axe, and then killed his wife with the axe.

Friends then took Murphey in charge and carried him away. The matter has been considerably discussed on the streets and around the hotels tonight but no one seems to know exactly the cause of the attack. The friends of both parties are silent as to the cause. The case will probably be examined into by the recorder.

Barry & Fay.

The Providence Dispatch thus spoke of them:

People left the opera house last evening with fears in their eyes—not tears of sadness, but tears caused by excessive laughter. There is no funder perfermance on the stage at the present day than the Muldoon and Mulcaby of Barry & Fay in the amusing comedy, "Irish Aristocracy." Both are humorous in the highest degree, and yet give two distinctive types of Irish character, one serving as an exce lent foil to the other, and yet both so excurciatingly funny that their very appearance on the stage sends the audience off into convulsions of laughter, and from their first entrance to the closing three handed reel, there is hardly a line that they speak or a situation on the stage that does not keep the audience in a roar. The supporting company is a good one, and presented the other characters in the play very acceptably. Miss Kate Quinten as Mrs. Muldoon was excellent in the rich brogue and Misses Livingstom and Thomas as Honoria Muldoon and Phebe Plympkins respetively, were all that could be desired. Little Yevre as Jennie Muldoon was unusually good in the child's part. Mr. Daniel Lacy as Peter Belcher, the practical joker, added to the effectiveness of the performance, and Messrs. Lewis, Cooper and Grady took pood care of the other roles. People left the opera house last evening with

He said that he desired to state some facts for the consideration of the He intended to make a statement which he desired his constituents to be made acquainted with. He referred to the difficulty between himself and Mr. A. A. Murphy on Monday night. On that night he appeared before the committee on temperance to advocate a bill of interest to the people of his county. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Barrett, of Barnesville, were also before the committee. He had never were also before the committee. He had never had a difficulty in Pike county or any other county since he was eleven years old. Mr. Murphy stated that he (Mr. Gardner) and his solleague (Mr. Madden) were in the house by a small majority of scalawags and negroes, and that he (Mr. Murphy) represented the intelligence of the county. Continuing, Mr. Gardner said that he had denounced Mr. Murphy's statement as a base falsehood. Mr. Murphy had replied that he would hold Mr. Giardner personally responsible for what he Murphy had replied that he would nold Mr. Gardner personally responsible for what he had said. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Barret left the committee room first, Mr. Madden next, and Mr. Gardner last. Outside the room, without any notice, Mr. Murphy struck Mr. Gardner in the face, just as the latter walked out of the door. Mr. Gardner did not fall through the door. He tried to get rid of his overcoat, in order to defend himself, but members of the committee interfered and stopped the difficulty. Mr. Gardner stated to the committee that he regretted the occurrence, but Mr. Murphy's action showed what kind of a man he was, and what methods he used in the attempt to carry his measures. Mr. Gardner said he regrette the difficulty, but was not to blame. He an his colleague were in the house by a majority of over three hundred, and were trying to represent their constituents fairly. As far as per sonal matters were concerned, he and his col league could take care of themselves.

Mr. Gardner stated, also, that he remained in the committee room only for the purpose of making a statement to the committee, and then walked out, thinking he would meet Mr. Murphy. He had not, however, seen Mr. Murphy since. Mr. Gardner closed by thanking the large for patiently hearing his statement.

THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Mr. Atkinson, of Coweta, offered a resolution appointing Messys. Reid, Jones, Brown of Cheroke, Brewster and Duggan as a commitace to investigate the department of agriculture.

Mr. Atkinson urged the adoption of his resolution. He said that Mr. Simmons, of Sumter, lud made two charges against him in a speech on Monday. Mr. Simmons had, charged him with being the prosecutor of the agricultural department, and also with being the only person who had made charges against the department. He denied the charges in caustic turns. Mr. Simmons had said in one breath that there were no charges against the department, and then that he would show at the summer session that the department ought to be abolished. Mr. Atkinson contended that instead of his being the prosecutor of the department, Mr. Simmons himself was the prosecutor. He said he was astonished at the extent of Mr. Simmons's knowledge. He would ead that he went home and was asked what had become of his resolutions that they had been tabled on the motion of the gentleman from Sumter. If he should be asked who the gentleman from Sumter was, he would reply that he was that wise gentleman from southwest Georgia who knew all things. Mr. Atkinson said that it had been insinuated that he wanted to take credit from Mr. Simmons—Not from myself, but from

Mr. Simmons and his colleague. Mr. Simmons-Not from myself, but from

Mr. Atkinson said it did not matter. The insinuation was untrue. His bitterest enemy had never charged him with selfishness. The gentlen an from Sumter did not enjoy the sole distinction of knowing all about the charges against the agricultural department. He did not wish to be chairman of the investigating committee. What he wanted was that the true condition of the department should be made

Mr. Simmons replied to Mr. Atkinson. He said that he had carefully listened to the gen-tleman from Coweta. He had expected to hear the thunder of Jove, but had heard the tin thunder of a third-class theater. His resolu-tions had died a natural death. He now sought o resurrect the resolutions through other gen-lemen. He had sought to steal the thunder of

Mr. Simmons's colleague.
Mr. Atkinson—That charge is absolutely untrue. Mr. Simmons—The gentleman is badly hurt. Continuing, Mr. Simmons charged Mr. Atkinson with being weak, and said that his ambition was sickening. "Let him join the agricultural society," Mr. Simmons continued, "and perhaps he may yet get to congress or be governor." Mr. Brady, Mr. Simmons said, should have the credit of his bill relative to guano, not Mr. Atkinson. He thought Mr. Atkinson had

Mr. Atkinson. He thought Mr. Atkinson halbrazen cheek to wish to take that credit.
Mr. Simmons then spoke against the adoption of the resolutions. In concluding, he characterized Mr. Atkinson as "the gentleman with the ambrosial locks." He moved to table the resolutions.

had started for the new country, joining an exploring and hunting party at St. Louis. The party penetrated into Wyoming, passed through the Big Horn basin, and in the late fall of 1861 found themselves on the headwaters of the Clarke fork of the Yellowstone. Following up the Clarke fork they soon came upon the canon of the stream, and, entering it, passed through and came out among the mountains in the confines of the great national park. Here they inaugurated a grand hunt among the mountain game they found great national park. Here they inaugurated a grand hunt among the mountain game they found so plentiful. One day Bethanny wandered away from the party in pursuit of a bear he had wounded, and followed the trail into the Snow mountains. In a deep and rocky gorge he ran his game to earth, and saw him enter an opening in the side of the gorge. On approaching the opening he saw that it must lead into a cavern of considerable extent, and at once boldly followed the game. He soon found the pear, but dead from its wounds.

But where did he find it? In the midst of ascene of dazzling splendor. The entire interior of the cavern was a mass of virgin gold studded with dazzling gems. From seams overhead there came only a small amount of light, and in the semi-obscurity the gems gave forth luminous rays and the pure ore filled the cavern with a golden shean.

Scarcely able to believe the evidence of his senses,

Bethany examined the precious stones of the cavern at first with fear and trembling, and then with the wildest transports of joy. In the narrow, rocky seams which traversed the golden mass of the cavern walls he recognized the dia-mond's brilliant white, the red flame of the ruby and the flashes of beautiful bluish green

With head in a waird and heart beating tumultuously, Bethanny left the gorgeous cavern to tell his comrades of his extraordinary discovery, for there was enough riches there to make them all Rothschilds. Mr. John T. Hall has been absent from the city for reveral months, is now in-Florida, where he expects to remain all winter. In view of this fact he sent in his resignation, which was received by the board of directors November 27th, and the name of Mr. H. A. Boynton, a well known methant and stockholder, was offered to fill the vacancy, to which Mr. J. C. Hendrix objected, and raised such a row that the name was withdrawn, and no election was had. Mr. B. When the other members came together instead of meeting Mr. Walker, they received a note from him stating that he had sold all of his stock, hence was inelligible as a director. This left us without a quorum, and the president, with the two remaining directors, were compelled to call a meeting of the stockholders for December 31st, to fill the existing vacancies. 'money digger." There are quite a number of persons in Worcester county who firmly believe that sums of money are buried in various places, and after discovering its whereabouts, by the aid of divining rod search for it, the entire work must be done at night, and if a word be spoken whilst digging for the treasure it moves off and is lost. It is hardly necessary to say that in this generation, when at every crossroad can be found a school house, the belief is being obliterated by education.

It is not positively known that Mr. Godfrey ever found any concealed treasures, but it is known that a few years ago he paid all claims against him with money that no one could ever tell how obtained, and the belief prevailed among his neighbors that he obtained it by digging for it.

INDICATIONS for Atlanta, taken at 1 o'clock a. m: Fair weather, followed by light rain; slightly warmer. Georgia, eastern Florida and Alabama: Fair weather, followed by light rains; variable winds, becoming southerly; slight change in temperature.

Now THAT Mr. Gardner has added his explanation to the fight which took place in the capital building on Monday night, it is to be hoped that the balance of the Christmas season will be devoted to "good will among men."

THE colored people of Florida have de clared a boycott against the railroads, because of discriminations made against them. If the boycott shall result in making the negro stay at home and save his money instead of spending it in travel, some good will have been accomplished.

THE open doors in the Atlanta wine rooms is a reform which should have been enforced in drinking places long ago. Whatever division of opinion there may be on the question of drinking in barrooms, there can none on the statement that barrooms should not be resorts of vagabondage, where the thriftless may while away their time behind green screens.

THE emigrant agents have hit upon a new dodge by which to evade the law. They employ the colored school teacher or the col ored preacher in each neighborhood to drum up the dupes, who are, in due course of time, ticketed through to the chilly swamps of Arkansas. Once there, the deluded victim can neither get money nor reduced fares upon which to return.

THE many friends of Hon. Elbert Fagan of Houston, can congratulate him on the successful termination of the contest for his seat in the house. Every issue made against him was decided in his favor, and he was unanimously seated. Mr. Fagan was a gallant soldier during the war, and since the war has held important civil offices in his county, and has faithfully discharged his Mr. Fagan is serving his second term in the Georgia legislature, and there is not a more careful and pains-taking legislator in the body. He looks carefully for the right side in all questions discussed, and when he makes up his mind, he is as firm as a rock.

A Free Trade Threat.

Here is the way a reputable southern newspaper-the Courier-Journal-talks about a system that is obnoxious to every right thinking man:

In a growing country such as this, it is possible so to arrange the tariff as to raise the revenue required from the internal taxes and a score of im ported articles, and this is what the obstinacy of a

This threat, for it is nothing less than a threat, is aimed at the men who have re- | GOVERNOR ALGER will give each of the five fused to indorse the tariff tinkering s of Mr. Morrison, and yet the result of such a threat would be to saddle on the people of this country-especially the people of this section-the most odious and intolerable system of laws that could possibly be invented. The free traders of the Morrison stripe, while they pretend to be in favor of a tariff for revenue only, have nevertheless resisted, with all their might and main, any and all efforts in that direction. They oppose, for instance, every attempt to repeal or modify the infamous internal revenue laws, though they are well aware of the fact that there can be no tariff for revenue only until these laws are repealed. Their opposition to the repeal or modification of this outrageous system of persecution shows that they are not in favor of revenue reform nor in favor of a tariff for revenue only.

With the internal revenue laws left as they are, and as the Morrison free traders propos to leave them, a tariff for revenue only would pile up the already large surplus mountains high. The surplus would be so large, in deed, that Brother Blaine, high protectionist and Brother Beck, Morrison revenue reformer, would be compelled to join hands in some embroidered scheme to divide the peo ple's money among the states. Such a schem as this, appears to be the dream of the high protectionists and of the free traders, and the probability is that the two extremes will yet meet on what appears to be the common ground of spoils.

The threat of the Courier-Journal which we have quoted above, is suggestive, not because it is a threat, but because in the heat of its disappointment, our esteemed contemporary has been moved to boldly outline the only policy that is likely to result from the success of the Morrison free traders. In respect of this, THE CONSTITUTION makes bold to say to its Kentucky contemporary, that there can be revenue reform carried out by the democratic party that does not contemplate, among other things, the reform of the internal revenue laws. The democratic party cannot afford, for the sake of appeasing the greed of the whisky ring, and the to bacco monopoly, to tolerate such a system of injustice and oppression. No party, we may say, can afford in a time of profound peace, with a great surplus in the treasury to uphold a system that countenances ou rage, injustice, oppression andmurder.

If the Courier-Journal doesn't believe that southern democrats are in earnest in this matter, let it proceed to make good its threat.

A Christmas Panorama,

The fine weather seems to be propitions It is suggestive of the holidays just ahead. ight sunlight and the crisp air give just the touch of color and contrast that is ecessary to the panoramic procession of continually moving enity that is M) our streets! Viewed from the curb he street corner, the scene is picdeed-theatrical in its colors and with the rich windows of the shors as a background. It is better worth eeing, in all its appointments, than the stale and flat plays that are brought out on the stage. These last are but poor and shallow forms of mimicry at best, in which the humanities are all left out; whereas, the vast spectacular play that passes slowly before our eyes in the street is informed and permeated with every human passion and motive. It's purposes are genuine, and even it's colors gaudy as some of them are more rea than those on which the red light is flashed fro behind the pasteboard scenes.

But, go to! go to! as Brother Watterson would remark. We had not intended to play with the unities and the moralities after this fashion, but only to call the attention of lovers of the picturesque to the excellent display that our poor humanity can make when it is moved to put on its holiday garb. Your true curbstone moralist will not seek to find tragedy in this Christmas panorama that surges past him on the streets. The elements of tragedy and the promptings of despair are there you need not doubt, but whether they are hid beneath the poke bon net here, or beneath the flaunting plumes of our lady's hat yonder, we need not trouble ourselves to discover. It is enough that they are hid from view.

On every side we may see the more agree able symptoms of hope and anticipation, the gay humor of youth, and the high pleasure that beauty takes in the present. The lit tle children go trippingly along, bubbling over with merriment, and the old folks fol low as best they may; but all combine-the young, the old, the rich, the poor-to make a panorama on which the curbstone observer may feast his eyes.

Is it too early for the compliments of the season? Not if they come from the heart wherefore THE CONSTITUTION sends its greetings to one and all. May their richest anticipations, their brightest hopes, be more than fulfilled!

THERE is one thing the western free trader are disposed to forget, and that is that the dem ocratic platform and the democratic president demand that American labor shall be protected in any scheme of tariff reform. Now, American labor is American industry. The fre traders should think of these things.

THE cotton oil trust ought to change its name to the cotton oil distrust

THE managing editor of the Boston Advertiser is only twenty-six years old. Think of a gray-headed man managing a newspaper at the age of twenty-six when he ought to be wearing corduroy short "pants."

It is hinted that Mr. Morrison may still b mayor of Waterloo. But the trouble is, he has so many Waterloos he won't know which to be mayor of.

BROTHER WATTERSON Waxes cloquent. H says the democrats who voted with Mr. Randall are "pimps who serve the painted Harlot of Protection." It is to be feared that Brother Watterson will have to take another foreign tour before his health gets entirely well.

Now that Brer Morrison has been thrice de feated, he would do well to hustle around and get on the democratic platform. He has simply made a mistake in supposing that a Courier-Journal editorial is as efficacious as the demo cratic platform. Hustle, Brer Morrison

The London Exposition

Yesterday Colonel Stovall said to a Consti-TUTION reporter:

"The community should not confound the prop sition for the appointment of a commission to visi Europe and report upon commerce, manufacture, agriculture, etc., (which has been defeated in the legislature) with the representation of the state legislature) with the representation of the state of Georgia at the American exposition next year in London. I have not the slightest doubt that the members of the legislature are in full accord with the idea of having our state represented by an ample and appropriate display of her resources and industries at that exhibition. The request for the appointment of commissioners was simply equivalent to giving tha gentlemen so appointed letters of introduction, so as to place them in accord with conventional forms considered abroad as absolutely necessary in such cases.

Ephriam Gay, a negro man, was arrested yesterday afternoon by special officers and given a cell in the city prison. Gay's name was placed upon the police docket, and in the next column upon the police docket and in the next column was written, "keeping for unlawful sale spirituous and malt liquors at 155 West Peters street." Several days ago special officers were informed that Gay was selling liquor at his place and a careful watch was begun. Yesterday afternoon the officers entered Gay's place and found liquor secreted in buckets, cans, demijohns, etc. Some of the vessels contained a new corn liquor and others rye. Gay will be arraigned in police court this morning.

One Fined and the Other Not. C. J. Vaughn and J. C. Bieser, the two wine room men against whom cases were made several days ago, were arraigned in police court yesterday morning. The evidence against Vaughn was not sufficient to convict, and he was discharged, Bleser, however, was not so fortunate. The evidence in his case showed that the law had been violated, and Judge Anderson imposed a fine of $50

Hightower, the negro who was so seriously mifed night before last by Elmira Gaines, was so to appear in police court, where the cases against him and the women were called. The evidence showed that both parties had created quite a disturbance, and ten-dollar assessments were made against both.

Celebrated court ladies and women of noble birth carried them. The most celebrated and charming picture in which a must is shown is that exquisite painting by Sir Joshua de entitled "The Vor which forms a part of the fine collection of the marquis of Hertford. Nothing could be more delp eate than this work. The young English girl seem to be rather passing across the canvas than fixed upon it, so wonderful is the skill with which the artist has depicted the walking motion—the body nclined a little forward, and the head to one side This woman's bust, cut off at the muff, is so fine and fresh in tone, so radiantly original in design, that it would suffice alone to establish the immortal renown of Reynolds, for into this work the artist has put the quintessence of womanliness, the ideal of the most exquisite English loveliness, and has rendered it a memorable type of chilly beauty.

GRADY IN NEW YORK.

He is Invited to Address the New England Society.

New York, December 21 .- [Special.] -Mr. Henry W. Grady is being crowded with dislistinguished attentions. He has been tendered a Press club reception and also a dinner at the Union club by Logan C. Murray, to meet prominent southerners and New Yorkers. Tonight be is at the Union League club, attending dinner given him by Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss, to which a score of leading New Yorkers were in vited to meet him. Great interest is felt in his speech to be made tomorrow night at the anand banquet of the New England society. This is the oldest, strongest and richest society in New York, and Mr. Grady is the first outherner ever invited to address it. This annual banquet is always the social event of the season in the metropolis. Mr. Grady has a delicate as well as an inspiring task before him Out of compliment to him a half dozen leading southerners of New York have been invited to the banquet tomorrow night, which is a decided innovation. The banquet will be given in Delmonico's immense hall, which seats 360, but Judge Russell, president of the society stated today that the demands for tickets was so unprecedented that an effort was being made to arrange on the annex to the room over 250 worthy applicants have had to be refused tickets.

"The Lord only knows. I have thought of thousand things to say, five hundred of which if I say they will murder me when I get back home, and if I say the other five hundred they will murder me at the banquet."

THE NEW SOUTH.

Transfer of the Albany Stove Works to Tennessee---Mr. Inman's Work.

From the New York World.

WASHINGTON, December 18.—Congressm McMillan, of Tennessee, says that his state is now having a greater boom of prosperity than has eve been known in its history. The coal and iron been known in its history. The coal and iron possibilities of Tennessee can hardly be exagger ated. The fact that iron can be produced and sold a sylvania, has turned many capitalists toward the state. Mr. McMillan says that Mr. Perry, of the great Albany stove works, is now in Tennessee ar ranging to transfer his entire plant to Little Pitts burg. Mr. Perry found that the stove makers o Nashville were underbidding him in every direc-tion, and particularly in furnishing supplies for government contracts. The Nashville stoves have crowded out all others in the purchases by th government for the posts in the south and west government for the posts in the south and west, Mr. Perry could undoubtedly have remained in New York if he could have retained convictly labor. He had 500 convicts at his works up to the time such labor was forbidden by law. It was he who employed Ferd. Ward. Mr. Perry says that Mr. Ward was put on his books after a preliminary experience as a stove poisher, but he found, to his great surplise, that this Napoleon of Wall street hardly knew the rudiments of mathematics and was able to add a column of figures correctly only with difficulty. He had to go to kork and learn how to keep books as if he were a novice.

to add a column of figures correctly only with difficity. He had to go to twork and learn how to keep books as if he were a novice.

Mr. McMillan is connident that Tennessee will scon be the rival of Pennsylvania. Western Pennsylvania at present has great advantages since the discovery of natural gas. They are now hunting in Tennessee for this fuel and expect to indo it. If they do the Tennessee manufacturers will be able to cut more sharply into the Pennsylvania interests. They make pig iron now so that they can sell it for $9 a ton, while it costs about $11 a ton, I am told, to produce it in Pennsylvania. Mr. McMillan thinks that with natural gas as a cheap fuel the Tennessee people will be able to go beyond their prosent conpetition and undersell northern manufacturers in the secondary forms of iron, where they do not at present compete. I asked Judge Kelley about this the other day. The judge has recently been through Tennessee for the purpose of finding out how seriously Pennsylvania intorests were being threatened. The judge said that there was not the slightest danger of any one of the substantial industries of his state. It was true that Tennessee would drive out the manufacture of pig iron in Pennsylvania, but there was a constant increase of the skilled labor of Pennsylvania, and with the extra stimulus of extra competition great improvements would be made in the already highly organized condition of the manufacture of iron and seel in that state. They would simply improve what they would be made in the areasy many organization condition of the manufacture of iron and seel in that state. They would simply improve what they already have and would be able to defy all competition through their skill.

The development of the riches of Tennessee can be directly traced to Mr. Inman, the great southern the contraction of the respective traces to the contraction of the respective traces to the contraction of the respective traces. financial circles, Mr. luman was a confedera millionaire, who is so prominent in New York financial circles. Mr. Imman was a confederate soldier. He was not particularly distinguished, although the record that he made there was good. He came out of the war poor. He scraped together $2,000 or $3,000 in Tennessee, and went to New York several years after the war and engaged in business as a cotton broker. Mr. McMillan says that he is about fifty years of age. He has a most remarkable genius for making money. He has rare judgment, great courage and never fails. He is worth today in the neighborhood of $20,000,000, and is at the head of the syndicate of capitalists who are controlling the coal, iron and marble of Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama.

It is in this development of manufacturing interests that the republicans expect to make great gains in the south on account of their protection policy. I asked Judge Ke ley about this. He said that there was no doubt but what the manufacturers would break the solid south in a short time. He said that he spoke to a number of audieaces of all shades of political belief, and his arguments in favor of a protective policy for home industries were received with great enthusiasm. A number would say to him: "We are protectionists, but we cannot forget that we are democrats." His rejly to them was this; "I would advise you to vote as you shot during the war, in accordance with your convictions. I do not ask you to vote for a democrat or a republican, but I do ask you to vote for a protective given by Judge Kelley of the possible wealth of this section is where he relates how the first quality of marble is used in Alabama as a lime-stone in the manufacture of pig-from. This marble is so common that it is the cheapest stone that can wealth of this section is where he relates how the first quality of marble is used in Alabama as a linustone in the manufacture of pig-iron. This marble is so common that it is the cheapest stone that can be had. Judge Kelley says that this state sent a block of marble to the Washington monument, which was rejected because the law specified that the stone received from each state should be quarried from its own soil. The inspector of the work at the monument said that this from Georgia was evidently the finest Italian marble, and it took an affidavit of the governor that it was a genuine production of the state before it could be accepted.

The southern people in the neighborhood of the regions visited by Judge Kelley are wild with excitement over their prospective riches. They are praying night and day for northern capital. Of course they want northern people to come there who will mind their own business about politics. But even the prejudice against free expression of opinion is dying out in this hinnger for outside capital. Judge Kelley says that he was produced wherever he went with circulars inviting him to invest. People there had gotten the idea that he was a great capitalist and an iron master on account of the roubriquet of 'Pig-Iron' which has been prefixed to his name for so many years. Judge Kelley is a poor man and was not able to avail himself of the many offers of valuable properties. One quarty, fairly well developed, of black marble of the ley is a poor man and was not able to avail himself of the many offers of valuable properties. One quarry, fairly well developed, of black marble of the finest quality, was offered to him for $10,000. The marble industries are absolutely in their infancy. Some of the finest marbles of this country are in the three states visited by Judge Kelley. There has been no capital as yet invested in them to any extent. The attention of foreign capitalists is at present confined to the possibilities in the development of the coal and iron interests. When such a great firm as the Albany Stove works deliberately plans to transfer its entire plant to this section it is very solid evidence to the manufacturing world of the extraordinary development and postibilities of this new region.

From Montezuma we ran to Americus, where I eff the cars for a handshake with the boys.

Meeting an old friend, I joined him in a tour of servation. The first thing to see was the ingo ously constructed water tanks. Mr. Herring ucceeded last year in getting a fine flowing arte. sian well right in front of the depot, and by putting in a hydraulic ram the water was utilized. Two large tanks were constructed, and with this apparatus they are kept constantly filled. Competen judges say the water supply is sufficient for twenty five trains per day.

Down below the depot is the new compress which has a capacity of 600 bales per day. On Saturday before it had made an average of fifty-six and three-fourth bales per hour. It is said that this compress has raised the price of cotton one-fourth opened up to it from the warehouses, and the co on is handled in a burry.

Down across the road is the ice factory, which did a good business this year.

Up town I found things changed around consicrably. Cotton avenue business has change bands so much that one can hardly find an old face in the various business houses.

Everything indicates progress and prosperit owever, and every fellow you meet says "Amen us is on a boom," and then he skips down the

He will probably soon be estored, to the gratification of his many friends. On the corner of Forsyth and Lee streets, the undations are being laid for a handsome new ourthouse building, and the old house now used for that purpose will be removed. The square will be disposed of by the county commissioners. It is one of the most beautiful pieces of ground in the state, and is fraught with interesting cences.

The Americus, Preston and Lumpkin railro puts on airs. It is a paying institution, and the company consider it a bonanza. Its eastern exten sion is being built, and twenty miles of the road bed has been graded. The hands will reach Fliat river, at Huguenin's ferry, by Christmas, and Dooly county cotton will be shipped over its rails by next Leaving Americus I took the train for Smithville. I was much interested by the conversation of an avalid lady from Atlanta, who was on her way to Leesburg, where she has relatives. She seemed to look with much wonder on the beautiful woods and broad fields of southwest Georgia; and it was a pleasure to watch the light of her eyes as she caught rare glimpses of evergreen trees and shrubs contrasting so strangely with the wintry desolation of higer latitudes. Her little boy was imme interested in those queer "cypress knees" that an peculiar to those who have never Approaching Albany one has little intimation of

After leaving Albany I became interested in little bit of a boy, who, with his sister, had been visiting "Grandpa" in Cuthbert. The little fellow had ridden until he was growing restive, and he began asking his sister, a modest little miss, how far it was home. She began to interest him, and it was an amusin thing to watch the little fellow as he pressed his face against the window pane, watching eagerly for some old familiar landmark. I shared peanut with my little man and learned that his home wa at Ocklocknee. A big heart went out to the little wiregrass boy, for I could imagine how he longed to see the dear ones among the pines. At his station the family boarded the train, and oh my! what a greeting. I would like to be a little wiregrass boy myself again could I be sure of an occasional greeting like that.

On hoard we had a real live bishop, Dr. Hopkins of Emory college, Rev. J. W. Burke, of Macon, and half a score of joliy parsons from the Cuthbert con ference. Rev. Mr. Burke is always at his best, and he was even more so on this trip.

A Negro Man Arrested in Atlanta--- He is Wanted in Birmingham. Jeseph Williams, a young negro man, was arrested last night by Detectives Bedford and Aldridge, because he is wanted in Birmingham for killing a small boy.

Williams has been in Atlanta constantly since the killing.

the killing.

One night about three months ago several negroer, who were at a ball in Birmingham, fell out and became invoived in a general fight. Williams, who went by the name of Shedd, was one of the crowd engaged in the fight, during which he fired at a man named Morrison, one of the originators of the row. The ball missed the man but struck a child, who was near the crowd, killing him instantly. When the child was shot he was standing in a lot in the rear of the house in which the row began, and as he was not found until the next morning his death was not known, and but iittle importance was attached to the row.

On the morning after the row the dead child was found in the lot. A bullet hole through the head was sufficient evidence of the cause of the child's death, but for a time the officials and the public were at a loss to know by whom the shot was fired. For two days detectives worked.

and the public were at a loss to know by whom the shot was fired. For two days detectives worked on the case, and then the trouble at the ball was thought of. This was investigated. The investigation disclosed the fact that Shed or Williams, was the only man in the crowd who had fired a pistol. This, of course, placed the crime at the negro's door, but when the officers made an attempt to arrest him he was come. A result of the course of the crime at the negro's door, but when the officers made an attempt to arrest him he was come. A result of the course o an attempt to arrest him he was gone. A reward was offered quickly for his arrest, and a description sent broad east. Atlanta was among the places to which the description was mailed, and when it was placed upon the bulletin board at police headquarters the men observed it. Detectives Bedford and Aldridge were among those who say the description were among those who saw the descrip and began watching for the fugitive. A days ago they ascertained that a negro man named Williams, who was running on the East Tennessee road, answered the descrip-tion given by Shed. The detectives at once began watching for Williams, and last night ran more him At Gerildson, and last at once began watching for Williams, and last night ran upon him. At first the darky pre-tended that he knew nothing of the affair for which he was arrested, but after a short time gave in and admitted everything. He ac-knowledged that his name was Shed, and that he had fired the pistol. He even went further and said that he knew the bullet had killed the bey the next morning. Immediately after the arrest of Williams, Chief Connolly sent a telegram to the Birmingham chief of police acquainting bim with the arrest. Later nessage was received instructing the chief to hold the negro. A Birmingham official will reach Atlanta today for the prisoner.

The young man was J. A. DeLoss.

DeLoss is an expert in granite, and when the DeLoss is an expert in granite, and when the Stone Mountain and Atlanta Granite company, with other granite companies submisted bids for work in the queen city, he gave his opinion as to the worth of the different granites. Later DeLoss was working in Chattanooga, and while there came to Atlanta. During his sojourn in Atlanta he had a draft cashed at the Gate City bank. The draft was indorsed by Mr. Pendleton, of Atlanta, and was refused when sent to Ohio for payment. The inquiry into the draft caused DeLoss's arrest upon the charge of forgery. Mr. C. K. Maddox became his bondsman and he was released. Yesterday Mr. Maddox strrendered DeLoss to the sheriff, and he was jailed.

A TUB OF BOILING WATER

COMES VERY NEAR CAUSING AN INSTANT DEATH.

9 over Daniel, a Butcher at Work in West End, Knocked into a Vat of Scalding Water—A Fol-low Workman Jerks Him Out—He is Most Severaly Scalded, Etc.

Grover Daniel, a butcher, whose home is on Hill avenue, was so severely scalded yesterday that he will in all probability die. Since Monday morning Daniel has been working at Alexander's slaughter pen near West End, Yesterday he was engaged butchering hogs, and during the day killed and cleaned a large number. When dark came the pen only contained a few hogs, and Daniel decided to butcher them before quitting. The scalding tub, a large, deep vessel, was filled with hot water and a dead hog was thrown into it, dipped argund and drawn out. As the hog was puiled out Deniel was standing near the scalding tub with his back toward it. A hog was then rouning through the lot and passing near Daniel, ran between his legs. The collision was not a violent one, but was enough to cause the butcher to fall backward against the tub of hot water. The tub was placed on an incline with the mouth near Grover Daniel, a butcher, whose home is on tub was placed on an incline with the mouth nea the ground, and Daniel struck it in such a way that he was thrown into it. Just as he struck the not water he gave a yell which attracted the attention of Bob Ratteree, who was near. Rate teree heard the yell, and looked around just as Daniel was dropping into the water. He realized the danger, and reaching out, grabbed Daniel by the head as his body went under the scalding how water. He was not able to puil him out, but was strong chough to keep his head out of the hot water until the men in the yard could aid in the rescue. When Daniel was drawn from the tub of steam

When Daniel was drawn from the tub of steatning water he was as limp as a rag and unable to speak. His clothes were wet from his knees to his shoulders, and the hot steam leaving them showed that he had been severely scalded. The men about the pen were unable to do anything for Daniel and telephoned for a physician. Dr. Rosch responded to the call, and when he reached the yard Daniel was suffering intensely. His greans and cries could be heard a half block away. A carriage was procured and Daniel was driven to bis home. There an examination showed that the skin and flesh were dropping off and were ready to drop off from the man's hips to his shoulders. He suffered most intensely as his clothing was being removed, and as the skin left his body agonizing cries went up. Soothing lotions were applied and opiates were atministered as quickly as possible. They rendered he man's condition easier, and at midnight he was quiet. as quiet. The physician considers Daniel's condition exremely dangerous, but says he may pull through with care. The man's excape from instant death was almost a miracle. Had not Ratteree been so near at hand, and caught Daniels by the head as he dropped into the vat of hot water, his head would have gone under, and death would in all probability have been instant.

Housekeeping for Girls.

It is astonishing that mothers should be willing to send their daughters into the world unfitted to fulfill the practical duties of life. Many years ago I went to visit a family in New Jersey, in which there was a method of instruction for the daughters pursued by the mother, a shrewd, sensible woman, which has always seemed to me to be well worthy of imitation by every mother sensible woman, which has always seemed to me to be well worthy of imitation by every mother who has her daughter's future happiness at heart.

This mother was a thorough housekeeper, a widow, who, in addition to her household duties, was carrying on the business of her late husband in a building adjoining the bouse. She had four daughters. She gave them the best education the city afforded, and it being the seat of a college, the schools were uncommonly good. When the oldest daughter graduated from school, the mother took har into the kitchen, where she was thoroughly instructed in all the mysteries of that kind of work; taught her all other kinds of housekeeping work, even how to select poultry, butcher's meat, etc., and how to preside at table. When she was competent to do it, she alternated week in and week out, with her mother, in taking entire charge of the house as mistress. When the other daughters graduated the same thorough instruction was given them, sad when these girls married, as they all did, housekeeping was no bugbear to them, or came for trouble and anxiety to their husbands.
Their parlors were the resort of the best people of the place, and their house was a home in every sense of the word. Will every other mother go and do likewise!— keitgio Philosophical Journal.

NEW YORK STOCKS. Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock

Exchange. NEW YORK, December 21.—The stock market to day offered some violent contrasts, changing in an hour from extreme activity to midsummer dullness, and from decided weakness to great strength. Nearly one-half of the total day's business, 502,000 shares, was transacted in the first hour, after which a period of extreme dullness was succeeded by a moderately active market. Liquidate anter which a period of extreme dullness was succeeded by a moderately active market. Liquidation for European account was renewed this morning, but heavy covering of short contracts after the first few minutes gave a remarkably strong-tone to dealings. Liquidation was also largely indulged in by the Reading pool, and in the early decline that stock was the heaviest sufferer. Foreign selling, however, was brought to a close before noon, and the pressure being removed the imprayment. and the pressure being removed the improvement in values gained force. Postponement of consider-ation of the inter-state commerce bill also gave re-newed confidence in buying in the afternoon. London sold a large number of the active stocks, among which were Reading, Erie, Louisville and Nashville, Vanderbilts and Northern Pacifics. The opening was again extremely weak, declines from lost overplacing fleures and the complete fleures and the complete fleures. last evening's figures ranging from ½ to 1½ per cent. Transactions were very large and a further decline was established in the early dealings. The decline was checked in the first few minutes, however, and strength as decided as the former weak-ness was displayed. Material advances over the opening figures were established in the first hour. There was decided lull in activity shown upon the culmination of the first advance and the marthe cummation of the first advance and the market became decidedly dull in the afternoon, prices remaining steady to firm in the meantime, but toward 2 the upward movement was again resumed, accompanied by larger business, and the market finally closed strong at about the best figures of the day. NEW YORK, December 21-C. L. Green & Co., in NEW YORK, December 21—C. L. Green & Co., in their report on cotton futures today, say: Trading has been only fair, and with the supply rather exexceeding the outlet. Another shrinkage of about five points took place, followed by a fractional recovery and a somewhat steady showing at the close. Slack advices from Liverpool, full port receipts and an easing off in some of the southern market induced a further throwing of long cotton, and while more or less covering was apparent in many quarters, it is also known that quite an addition to the short interest has been made.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Gain and Produce. Special to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, December 21 - The wheat market CHICAGO, December 21—The wheat market started in with a heavy tone this morning. The starting figure foe May was 80%c, or %c lower than the closing last night, and dropped off to 83%c with rather free offerings all the way down. The weakness was attriauted in part to the increase in east bound freight rates, which entered into effect today, and which, it is claimed, had a tendency to restrict shipments. A good buying movement set in toward the close of the regular session and again on the afternoon board on a reported good export business and an improved feeling in the stock market. May seemed to the control of the close of the regular session and again on the afternoon board on a reported good export business and an improved feeling in the stock market. The corn market was steady and a moderate business was transacted, but trading was chiefly of a local character, but toward the close a wave of good buying set in which carried prices up to the best of the day, May touching 42½c, having dropped to 421/c early in the session. Cats ruled dull, but closed firm and a shade higher Provisions were actively dealt in. The feelin n mess pork was easy early in the session, but trengthened toward the close, and the market closed at nearly top prices and a shade higher than

The estimate was approved and the amount ordered to be paid.

THE GEORGIA PACIFIC ACCIDENT. - The THE GEORGIA PACIFIC ACCIDENT,—The accident on the Georgia i acide road at Peyton. Monday night, did not affect the schedule of the road to any extent. The derailed coach and sleeper were placed upon the track late that night and brought to the city early yesterday morning. The sleeper was not hurt at all, but the coach which turned over was badly damaged. The passengers who were bruised and scratched in the accident were much better yesterday morning after a good night's rest.

DEATH OF A BRAVE LITTLE SUFFERER.— Miss Bernice Phirl, a bright and loveable little girl of thirteen years of age, who has been a sufferer for a long time, died Yesterday morn-ing at 6:45 o'clock. Some time ago she was forced to submit to the amputation of one of her less. She here up beroically under this her legs. She bore up heroically under this pointful operation, and was never heard to mumur. The drain upon her vital energies and strength was too great, and she finally succumbed. WORK OF THE MOONSHINERS,-United States WORK OF THE MOONSHINERS.—United States Marshal Nelms yesterday received a letter from John L. Rowe, a successful and reputable farmer who resides near Tallapoosa, Georgia, in which it was stated that on the night of the 17th, the writer's son's dwelling house and stables were burned to the ground by the torch of incendiaries. The buildings contained 200 bushels of corn, 500 to 600 bundles of fodder, and a large quantity of peas. Mr. Rowe's son lives a few miles from Tallapoosa. He is satisfied that the fire was the work of the moonshiners who suspected young Rowe of having fied that the fire was the work of the moon-shiners who suspected young Rowe of having given information to the authorities upon which Harris Pope, Wesley Pope and Marion Holland were arrested and their illicit distillery destroyed. Some of the moonshiners had been heard to make suspicious remarks about Rowe, and threats had been uttered against him by certain parties. Rowe is confident that some of this gang fired his house, and he believes he has a clue which will enable him to spot them

THE NAVAL STORES MEN.-Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock the railroad commission met to consider the grievances of the Naval Stores Manufacturer's Protective association. The as-sociation was represented by a large committee, the spekesman of whom was Mr. C. B. Townsend. The petitioners made an elaborate pre-sentation of their case. They asked for a ma-terial reduction of freight rates, stating that terial reduction of freight rates, stating that what they deemed an equitable reduction would be 10 per cent for short hauls and 33 per cent for long distances. The following railways were represented: The S. F. and W., E. T., V. and Ga., Central, and B. W. The railway men asked for further time in which to present their side of the case, and requested the commissioners to require that the petitioners sulmit their petition to writing and serve each railway company interested in the matter with a copy. The commission acceded to this request and adjourned the further heuring of the complaint until the 5th of January, when both sides will be fully prepared to go into the merrits of the case. merits of the case.

The Two Johns.—One of the largest audiences of the season greeted the "Two Johns' last night and evinced their appreciation of the perfermance in round after round of laughter and applause. The play reminds one very much of "Mixed Pickles," only the "Two Johns' become considerably more mixed than do the two "Pickles." For ridiculous situations and absurd complications, it equals any comedy that has graced DeGive's boards in a long time. Messrs. J. C. Stewart and Paul Dresser, as the "Two Johns," are a comedy entire in themselves, irrespective of the balance of the company. Their facial expressions were almost perfect, and kept the audience in a continual giggle which occasionally burst forth into vociferous laughter. The comedy is splendidly written and with no plot, save that o' evoking unstinted laughter, is an eminent success. The support is equal to the emergency and is far better than that of most comedies that visit our city. Atlanta always gives a THE Two Johns .- One of the largest audithat visit our city. Atlanta always gives a shaking welcome to really good comedians, and the "Two Johns," as long as they keep up to their present standard, can always count on a liberal support from Atlanta theater goers.

the Officers, is Caught at Last.

An Old Offender, After Frequently Eluding
the Officers, is Caught at Last.

Some eighteen months ago, information was conveyed to the revenue officers that in Gilmer county an extensive distillery was run by Jim Southern. William Southern and several others, who defied the authorities and persisted for a long time in this illicit business. It was planned secretly that a raid should be made on this gang, and Deputy Collector Bledso and Deputy Marshal Campbell were detailed to manage the attack. These officials quietly moved on the enemy and stealthly gained an entrance into the distillery. The moonshiners were surprised and they made a break. Two of the number, William Southern and Jim Southern, not so alert as their companions, were captured and locked into the house of John Fowler. During the night Jim Southern escaped by climbing through the roof, and William was about to follow suit, when he was grabbled by Collector Bledso. A conflict between the officer and the prisoner ensued, the latter bringing his handy knife into play with terrific effect. Southern wounded Bledso desperately and then made good escape. For a long time it was feared that the wounded man's injuries would prove fatal, but finally Mr. Bledso recovered and returned to his duties in the revenue department. All efforts to capture either of the Southerns proved futile, and they went to the mountains and began their contraband whisky traffic again. Several raiding parties attempted to effect their capture, but in some way the offenders would always clude them. A few days ago, however, the veteran moonshiner was not so fortunate and was nabbed by a party of revenue men. Night before last he was brought to Atlanta and placed in jail. There are some three or four charges of violating the revenue laws laid against Southern, besides the more serious one of attempting to kill Collector Bledso. Jim Southern is still beyond the reach of the authorities.

Judge Meyerhardt, of Rome Yesterday the senate confirmed the appoint Yesterday the senate confirmed the appointment of Max Meyerhardt to be judge of the city court of Rome. Mr. Meyerhardt was admitted to the bar in Floyd superior court, on October 23rd, 1576. He and Senator Dean of the forty-second district were examined and admitted to the bar at the same time. Mr. Meyerhardt has risen to a high and creditable rank in his profession. He is the law partner of the Hons. Augustus R. and Scaborn Wright, under the firm name of Wright, Neverhaadt & Wright. He has been city attorney of Rome for six years; is now a member of the board of education of Rome. His appointment was indorsed by the three members from Floyd and the senator of his district, by the county and city cofficials, and a host of private of members and senators who knew his worth as a lawyer and citizen. It must have afforded Senator Dean especial pleasure to support the confirmation in the senate of Georgia if the appointment of his friend, whose career in the practice of the law began on the same day with that of himself.

I would like to ask of thinking, sensible people, isn't it a wonder that so many thousands of people, both male and female, will and do, daily suffer the great trouble and inconvenience, to say nothing of the pain and very serious consequences, caused by that most worrying and loathesome disease, piles or hemorrhoids, when they have offered them at their door a plain, simple, sure and permanent cure. Dr. Watson, of New York, has permanently located in Atlanta, office rooms No. 104 Whitehall street. By calling on him they will learn how easily, safely and surely all old or recent cases can be permanently cured without the old perintul and cruel practice of the knife, ligature, carbolic acid, and other long, tedious and painful operations. Dr. Watson has made the treatment of rectal diseases a specialty for ten years. His treatment is almost painless, and does not detail one an hour from active business. Valuable Imdroved Water Power for Sale

Wish To sell and Improved Water Power for Sale.

I wish To sell and as may be desired, up to 600 acres. It is located on Yellow River, three miles by a good road, from the Covington depot on the Georgia railroad. There is a fine dam, with stone abutments and gate arrangements; with some operatives house on the place. The location is open and healthful. There is on it an abundance of stone, and river clay (birch clay) for building purposes. It will afford constantly a supply of water for several hundred horse power. There is, that goes with the plan, a Legislative Charter for a manufacturing establishment. I do not think there is a more eligible location in middle Georgia for the building and operating of a large manufacturing establishment. There being largely more rower than I will use, I wish to sell the surplus, and will do so at a low price. I shall be glad to show it to, or correspond with, anyone desiring to purchase.
